RING OF STEEL AROUND DUBLIN

Killing Officers Said to be In Reprisal For Priest's Death

CRISIS HAS ARRIVED

Revulsion of Feeling on Both Sides Against Policy of Violence—Mayor Asks Protection

London, Nov. 23.—Dublin is surrounded by rings of steel today, the military with machine guns and armored cars, are guarding every possible exit from the city, while patrol parties are combing every hiding place in the greatest man hunt in Irish history.

The search is for a band of men, believed to number about 200, the perpetrators of Sunday murders, in which 14 British officers and secret service men were slain.

Official statements say that the murderers failed in their chief purpose, the destruction of evidence against Sinn Fein which recently had fallen into the hands of the authorities.

Information from a Sinn Fein extremist source says that the murders were in reprisals for the shooting of the Rev. Father Griffin, an Irish priest, who had been kidnapped from Galway November 19 and who was alleged to have been tortured by his British captors to make him tell what he knew about movements of the Republicans. Father Griffin's body was found the night before the murders.

Advices from Dublin say that the total dead as the result of yesterday's outrages number 35, with more than 100 wounded. Fourteen officers were murdered in what is described as the worst slaughter of this kind since the Indian mutiny. Twelve persons were killed by the bullets of the military cadets at Croke Park, in what it called the worst slaughter by British troops since Amritsar.

Five civilians were killed in raids last night. Two Black and Tans were shot in a battle in Mount street and other deaths among those wounded Sunday occurred at the hospitals in the course of the day.

The Irish capital was comparatively calm today, with the rigorous searching going on everywhere for suspects Four of the alleges assassins have been captured.

The general feeling in Ireland is that yesterday's tragedies brought the situation to a crisis. There has been a revulsion of feeling on both sides against the policy of violence. The Freeman Journal seems to think that prospects of peace have been opened up by these tragedies too terrible for either side to countenance.

Official announcement was made today that Lord Mayor O'Neil, of Dublin, had applied to the police last night for protection. When Lord French had given his permission to give the protection, it was found that none of the Metropolitan police or of the regular constabulary was available. A party of Black and Tans was sent instead to protect the Lord Mayor. Although no reason for the action was given, the inference was that O'Neil had feared he was in danger at the hands of Sinn Fein.

PLANS ARMED FORCE FOR ARMENIA

Assembly Will Appeal to Powers to Rescue Nation From Turks

SEEK AMERICA'S HELP

Viviani Warns Failure to Act Will Show League's Impotence—Plea Made for Prompt Action.

Geneva, Nov. 23.—The Assembly of the League of Nations decided without a dissenting vote today to appeal to the powers in the hope of finding a government willing to undertake mediation between the Turkish Nationalis, under Mustapha Kemal Pasha, and the Armenians.

An earnest debate preceded the vote on the resolution, which was presented by M. Viviani, former Premier of France, inviting the Council of the League to take the action indicated. It threatened at times, however, to justify the predictions of the League's opponents that the work of the Assembly would founder on the rule requiring a unanimous vote

Lord Robert Cecil, A. J. Balfour, Rene Viviani, Hjalmar Branting, Dr. Fridtjof Nansen, C. J. Dougherty (Canada and M. Stalaiovich (Jugo Slavia) participated, but the real contest was between M. Viviani and Mr. Balfour.

Mr. Balfour explained the failure of the League Council to find a mandatory for Armenia. He referred to the refusal of the United States to accept such a mandate and hoped that the committee of the Assembly might do better.

The former French Premier pleaded warmly for prompt action, provoking the first enthusiastic demonstration of the Assembly. He declared that if the Assembly was unable to do better than name another committee it would proclaim its own impotence.

It was remarked that Lord Robert Cecil applauded vigorously from the South African bench, while the English delegates, Mr. Balfour and H. A. L. Fisher, remained stolidly indifferent. It seemed evident that Mr. Balfour was fighting against an eventual military expedition more than against mediation as proposed by M. Viviani.

Although Dr. Nansen was the only one to speak boldly in favor of an expeditionary force to deal with the Turkish Nationalist leader, Mustapha Kemal Pasha, all the others, with the exception of Mr. Balfour, approached as closely as they could to this eventuality without actually saying so. Dr. Nansen estimated that a force of 60,000 men would be sufficient to deal with the situation.

The general impression after the debate was that the Assembly favored fighting Kemal Pasha if no other way was found to end the conflict in Armenia.

The possibility of American aid was touched upon in the debate. M. Spalekjovitch, of the Serbian delegation, recalled that the United States Senate at one time had approved the use of the American fleet to succor Armenians. It was recalled here in this connection that Senator Harding was the Senator who reported the resolution.

HIGH SCHOOL EDUCATION SHOULD BE MINIMUM

Rochester, N. Y., Nov. 23.—No state should allow its boys and girls to start life with anything less than a high school education, Governor William L. Harding, of Iowa, declared in an address here last night before the convention of New York Teachers' Association.

The slogan of the country should be, "all must be educated," said Governor Harding, adding that education must be "popularized."

"The public school has come nearer to turning out a 100 per cent perfect product than any other institution of which I have knowledge," said the Governor.

"We have outgrown the old doctrine that "education is free;" the new slogan is, "all must be educated."

ALLEGED MURDERER OF GIRL RECAPTURED

Kearney, Neb., Nov. 23.—Dennis Chester, accused of killing Florence Barton, Kansas City society girl, was captured four miles south of Oconto today. Chester was alone and unarmed and offered no resistance. He did not deny his identity when questioned by the officers and was taken to Broken Bow immediately.

Chester, arrested in Montana and charged with the Kansas City crime, made a spectacular escape from officers at Broken Bow Tuesday by jumping from a window of a moving train.

The students at St. Mary's Academy early in the evening were guests at the bazaar and later in the evening members of the Holy Name Society attended.

Many handsome articles, most of which are suitable for Christmas gifts, are to be found on sale at the bazaar and also voices are being disposed of each evening.

Comparatively few persons in the crowd realized that they were witnessing a marriage ceremony at the peak of the monument and not more than passing notice was taken of the couple when their hats were taken off and the marriage ceremony of the Baptist Church read. "In This Sign"

A Story of the Crusade of the Double Barred Cross

When Dr. Edward Livingston Trudeau discovered in the early '80's that tuberculosis could be cured by the application of the principles of right living with rest, fresh air and good food, the American crusade of the double-barred cross was launched. The crusade was without an emblem until in 1905, after the National Tuberculosis Association had been formed, the double-barred cross, the symbol of international warfare against the White Plague, was adpted as the sign under which the American crusade should be carried on. "In this sign" the fight against tuberculosis in the United States is being waged and "in this sign" the leaders in the fight believe that this disease, which today takes a greater toll in death and sickness than any other single disease in America, will be conquered The story of the American crusade of the double-barred cross as organized under the leadership of the National Tuberculosis Association is interesting.

From small beginnings the campaign against tuberculosis in the United States has developed in the last fifteen years to one of the strongest and best organized social and public health movements in the world. The National Tuberculosis Association and its affiliated agencies, so prominent European authorities say, is today recognized as a model for organization and efficiency everywhere.

For those who desire the story in a nutshell, the tuberculosis campaign in the United States may be epitomized in three paragraphs.

1. The death rate from tuberculosis has fallen since 1904 from over 200 per 100,000 population to approximately 145 per 100,000, a decline of about 27 cent as contrasted with a much smaller decline in the general death rate in the same period.

2. This decline in the death rate computed in terms of lives means a saving of approximately 50,000 lives a year in the United States alone.

3. In 1904, when the National Tuberculosis Association was organized, there was only a handful of agencies concerned with the preventive movement against this disease. The entire expenditure of all agencies of this character was less than $100,000 a year. Today there are over 1,100 such associations and the annual expediture of these preventive organizations is over $4,000,000, while the expenditure of public agencies engaged largely in the treatment of tuberculosis aggregate sover $30,000,000 annually.

The need for a tuberculosis campaign in the United States, as led by the National Tuberculosis Association, may be visualized thus:

There are, according to the best estimates, a million active cases of tuberculosis in he United States with an annual death toll of approximately 150,000.

There are at least another million inactive, arrested or latent cases of tuberculosis.

From 70 per cent to 95 per cent of the population is infected with the germs of the disease.

The problem that the tuberculosis movement seeks to solve is a threefold one:

First, to provide care and treatment for those who have the disease.

Second, to prevent those who are infected with it from breaking down with active tuberculosis.

Third, to control the spread of infection from those who have it to those who do not have it.

NOT SO TERRIBLY PORCHED

Trenton, Nov. 23.—That intoxication has not ceased to be among the failings of men by reason of prohibition is indicated by the report of Chief of Police Dettmar for October. Of the 523 arrests made during the month, 106 were for drunkenness. In October, 1919, three months before constitutional prohibition became effective, there were in the entire city only 72 arrests for drunkenness.

Pleading day in Mercer Court yesterday found a dozen alleged violators of the prohibition law in court, with many more to be summoned.

COX'S MAJORITY IN STATE 52,212

Received 141,670 Votes to 87,458 For Senator Harding

G. O. P. GET 20 COUNTIES

Virginia cast 231,001 votes in the general election of November 2, according to official figures given out by the Secretary of the Commonwealth yesterday following a canvass of the returns by the State Board of Canvassers. Governor James M. Cox received a majority over Senator Warren G. Harding, of 52,212, in the presidential race.

The official returns show that Governor Cox received 141,670 votes; Senator Harding, 87,458; Watkins, Prohibitionist, 826; Debs, Socialist, 307; Christensen, Farmer-Labor party, 240.

Senator Carter Glass led the ticket 84,646 votes being cast for him, or bout 42,976 more than was cast for my other candidate on the ticket, and 132,434 more votes than cast for Senator Harding. Senator Glass' majority over J. R. Pollard, his colored opponent, was 167,070.

Two towns and twenty counties vent Republican. Clifton Forge and Harrisonburg were the towns, and he counties were Alleghany, Dickenon, Lee, Arlington, Bath, Bedford, Buchanan, Carroll, Stafford, Washington, Wise, Floyd, Grayson, Russell, Scott, Shenandoah, Smyth, Wythe, Tazewell and Rockingham.

Only one of the presidential candidates, with the exception of the Democratic and Republican nominees, received as many as 100 votes in any city. In Richmond Debs polled 83 votes. In no county in the State did any of the minor candidates get as many as fifty votes.

The fights for seats in the House of Representatives were interesting, but were not really fights save in the Seventh District.

In the First District, Bland won by a vote of 14,846 to Powell's 3,562, carrying every county. Schade received a vote of 158, and three scattering candidates received a total vote of 25. Total votes cast was 18,366.

In the Second District a total vote of 20,815 was cast, Deal receiving 5,818 of the total, Lankford 5,389 and Munn 108.

In the Fourth District Drewry received a total vote of 11,427, to Mason's 909. The total vote was 20,336.

With 25,994 votes for Representative cast in the Seventh, the race was closer than any in the State, Harrison receiving 13,221, to 12,773 for Paul.

In the Eighth, Moore received 13,-142 votes, to 5,200 for Brooks, with 25,342 cast.

Bascom Slemp, who enjoys the distinction of being the only Republican in the Virginia delegation in Congress, received 28,057 votes, while Polling Handy, his Democratic opponent, received 23,100.

Four candidates for seats in the House were on the ticket in the Tenth District. Ellis receiving one vote. Flood winning with 14,814, Grasty getting 8,027 and Scotting thirty-one.

NO MORE TAFT FIASCOES WANTED

"Nobody in Washington," writes the correspondent in that city of The Weekly Review, "expects that Mr. Harding will last more than one term. It is curious at this first minute before the dust of the election has settled and all the returns are tabulated that one encounters the fixed and general belief that the new incomer will have Mr. Taft's experience. I have yet to hear any dissent from this prophecy."

For the sake of the new President, no less than for the country as a whole, it is to be hoped that this comparison with Professor Taft will prove unfounded. Problems of enormous difficulty and complexity are now pressing upon the United States, and much constructive legislation is needed at Washington. If Mr. Harding is to have Mr. Taft's experience that will mean that practically nothing will be accomplished in four years and that when the next Presidential campaign looms up his policies, or lack of policies, will have split his party wide open. From a standpoint of Democratic partisanship that might seem a desirable outcome, but, regarded in a broader light, it might prove detrimental to America.

Because of Senator Harding's feeble and unimpressive personality it seems not unlikely that he will be set aside in 1924 in favor of a stronger candidate, just as has been done with many Presidents, such as Pierce Buchanan, Hayes, Arthur, etc. In the meantime, however, we trust that he will be able to accomplish much for his country in the way of securing the passage of important legislation. Such a fiasco as Professor Taft made of his four years in the White House cannot be repeated without national peril.

WESTERN UNION BRINGS SUIT AGAINST DANIELS

Washington, Nov. 23.—The Western Union Telegraph Company applied to the District of Columbia Supreme Court yesterday for an injunction to restrain Secretary of the Navy Daniels from interfering in the construction of a telegraph cable between Miami and Miami Beach, Florida.

The Western Union Company also asked the court to require the Naval Secretary to instruct subordinate officials and naval officers to cease threatening to destroy the cable if laid. The company in its petition pointed out that the requested injunction would cover a different cable line than the Barbadoes cable the laying of which was prevented several months ago by the sending of warships to Miami.

The Western Union Company further declared that the cable now in course of construction was a replacement of an existing line which has been in operation since 1899, that $100,000 already had been spent in the work.

The Western Union also presented the claim that it had the right to construct the cable in question under the act of 1866 and under a permit from the Secretary of War.

Secretary Daniels said he had turned the matter of the Western Union's petition proceeding over to the solicitor of the department for investigation with instructions to report today. He added that he was working with the State Department in the cable matter and had issued instructions to naval forces in the vicinity of Miami to prevent the landing of any cable.

Secretary Baker said he had withdrawn permission previously granted to the Western Union Company for the laying of a cable between Miami and Miami Beach, Florida. His action was taken, he said, in an effort to help get the entire cable situation cleared up.

Scientists Ponder Over Whale's Legs' Utility

New York, Nov. 23.—Capture off the coast of British Columbia of a remarkable humpback whale with two hind limbs became known here recently when the bones of the unique appendages arrived at the American Museum of Natural History. Scientists attached to the museum thumbed their tomes on evolution, cudgeled their brains and concluded the legs might have been a singular reversion to primitive type.

There was no earthly or waterly reason for the rear legs on the whale found off the British Columbia coast. It couldn't walk on them, as they were but four feet long, while the whale weighed several tons. It couldn't use them for swimming, as they were not flippers, nor were the pedal extremities webbed.

But now they are the subject of lectures, lantern slides and profound discussion.

Hamon, Republican national committeeman of Oklahoma, was filed early last night with Justice of the Peace Hal Cannon by Russell Brown, county attorney of Carter county.

The next step, the county attorney said, was to locate Clara Smith. He declares she had left Ardmore yesterday afternoon on a train for California and an attempt was being made to have officers in the northern part of the State intercept her before she gets outside the boundaries of Oklahoma.

The shot took effect in Hamon's side. The injury is not serious, according to attaches of a local hospital where Hamon was taken. Hamon was preparing for a Texas hunting trip.

Hamon was wounded while in a room at a local hotel where he makes his home. A statement issued by Frank L. Kech, his business manager, said the shooting was "accidental," that a 25-caliber pistol "accidentally discharged" while Hamon was cleaning it.

ON HORSE RACES

Methodists Frame Bill for Coming Short Session of Congress to Prohibit Gambling

Washington, Nov. 23.—Turning aside emperarily from its educational campaign against the "tobacco evil," reform forces here are preparing to concentrate for a drive on Congress to bring about legislation for the prohibition of horse racing.

Even at the short session of Congress these forces, led by the Board of Prohibition, Temperance and Public Morals of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, will demand passage of a bill to prevent the interstate transmission of any information relative to race tracks, betting odds, turf records and other data that have long gone along with "the sport of kings."

By barring from the telephone and telegraph wires racetrack information, and by keeping out of the mails newspapers, bulletins, "dope sheets" and other publications containing information regarding horse racing, the reform forces think they can deal a death blow to the race track as it exists today.

RICHMOND THEATRE

"The Forbidden Thing," at the Richmond Theatre last night is perhaps the most humanly interesting and absorbing photoplay of the season. It is an Allan Dwan picture, and the fine hand of the director is seen throughout its seevral reels of entertainment. Lighting effects are excellent, while the technical details, the atmosphere, types and all that enters into the picture are virtually perfect from every standpoint.

volves around the eternal contest of the physical woman against the spiritual woman for the possession of a man's soul.

It is a remarkable production and one that will boost the stock of Allan Dwan as one of the real screen documents of the year.

INTERRUPT NEGOTIATIONS

Riga, Nov. 22.—Peace negotiations between soviet Russia and Poland were interrupted yesterday.

Adolf Joffe, head of the Bolshevik delegation, told M. Dombski, chief of the Polish representatives, that the work of arranging for a permanent peace could not proceed until Poland loyally fulfilled her promise to withdraw troops to her borders. He added this declaration was a result of the action of Colonel Ribak, head of the Polish section of the joint Military Commission at Minsk. Ribak proposed that a scheme be worked out for the withdrawal of the Polish troops by the establishment of a 30-mile zone between Polish and Ukrainian troops, and finally asked for the dissolution of the commission itself.

Joffe emphasized his claim that the procedings signed here on November 14, concerning the withdrawal of the Poles, excluded these questions. He asserted Colonel Ribak is planning for the union of the armies commanded by Simon Petlura, Ukrainian leader, and General Balakovitch, commander of "irregular" Polish forces, which have been operating in the rear of the Bolsheviki lines southeast of Minsk for the last three or four weeks.

Warsaw, Nov. 22.—Newspaper dispatches received here assert that negotiations between the Poles and the Russian soviet delegation at Riga have been broken off. The dispatches allege that the Poles have not kept their armistice agreement. The Poles are described as expecting soon to adjust the differences with the soviet delegates, and as not considering the break serious.

The soviet delgates, according to the dispatches, charge that there remain in parts of the Ukraine several detachments of Polish troops east of the armistice line, contrary to the Riga agreement, which provided for the withdrawal of all the Poles to the armistice line by November 19.

Russian Bolshevik and Polish soldiers are face to face at various points along the Zbrucz River in eastern Galicia a narrow stream which was designated at the peace conference at Riga as the armistice line, pending a permanent peace.

Reports from Galicia state that more than 10,000 of Simon Petlura's forces have crossed the frontier, seeking refuge in Poland before the advancing Bolsheviki, and, it is said that more troops which have been fighting the soviet armies west of Kiev are approaching the armistice line.

In several parts of the country the Bolsheviki have pursued the Ukrainians for many miles and have taken thousands of prisoners. Large numbers of Ukrainians have been driven into Polish territory, where they have been interned. The Bolsheviki are standing guard along the boundary.

The Ukrainians have moved their headquarters from Kamnetz-Podolsk to Czortkow, directly south of Tarnopol, in Galician territory.

Jail Lock Picked With Iron Spoon; Three Get Away

Danville, Va., Nov. 23.—Danville experienced its third jail delivery within five weeks yesterday evening. While Jailer John R. Tucker was in the courthouse, close to the jail George Barksdale, Clint Wilson and Albert Hairston, negroes, all convicted of jewel robbery and sentenced to serve two and three years in the penitentiary, made their getaway.

One of the trio picked the lock of a cell door with an iron spoon, and all made a successful dash for liberty before warning could be given. A white trusty gave the alarm at the courthouse. A guard from the penitentiary is due here tomorrow to remove the three mn to Richmond.

TRIAL DELAYED AS WOMEN JURORS POSE FOR CAMERA

Orange, N. J., Nov. 23.—Essex County's second women's jury convened yesterday before Judge Daniel A. Dugan for the first time in the case of John Segall, Newark, accused of practicing dentistry without a license.

Mrs. Edith Colby, wife of former United States Senator Everett Colby, was forewoman. Mrs. Thomas A. Edison, wife of the inventor, was to have served as forewoman, but she telephoned Judge Dugan a few minutes before the trial was scheduled to start that her husband was too ill and she was needed at home. Mrs. Edison was excused, promising to serve on the next jury called.

The proceeding was delayed an hour while newspaper men and photographers lined up the women for interviews.

FAMILY FIGHTS EAGLE TO SAVE EIGHT YEAR OLD BOY

Glendo, Wyo., Nov. 23.—It took the combined efforts of the Spaulding family yesterday to save eight year old Walter Spaulding from being carried away by a giant eagle at their ranch near here.

When the huge bird attacked Walter in the ranch yard, he grasped it by the neck and screamed for help. John, his 7 year old brother, came to the rescue, and a third boy ran for help. Mrs. Spaulding beat off the bird with a stick and the eagle attacked her. She was saved when Mr. Spaulding came with a shotgun and dispatched the bird. It had a spread of 8 feet.

The two boys were severely lacerated by the eagle's claws.

Field officials said the accident was due to Szymanski trying to "take off" at too steep an angle.

MINE STRIKERS HOLD PITS FROM OWNERS

Eagle Pass, Texas, Nov. 23.—Striking miners in the coal regions of Coahulia, Mexico, have refused to return the mines to the owners on the terms offered by the government, it was learned here today. The men are holding out for 100 per cent increases in wages, according to Mexican Consul Tamesel.

Whether the mines are to be operated for the benefit of miners who wish to return to work is now entirely up to the government.

Expelled Tongman Found Slain In N. Y. Chinatown

New York, Nov. 23.—The unwritten law of the Chinatown tongs that the penalty for squealing is death was carried out in Doyers street last night.

Leong Yung, 28, an expelled member of the Hip Sing Tong is dead, and not a Chinaman knows who killed him. though his death was witnessed by scores who come from many parts of the Metropolitan district to take a chance at fan tan and other Chinatown amusements.

Two shots were fired into his back. Although Detectives Sheehan and O'Connor were only a few rods away the mystic getaways of the narrow street opened and swallowed the man with the gun.

BERLIN OPERA STAR TO SING IN AMERICA

Berlin, Nov. 23.—America is about to hear one of the stars of the Berlin opera despite the ban on things German. Joseph Schwartz, leading baritone of the former Royal Opera, has been engaged for a series of 30 concerts in the United States and will sail next week.

Schwartz owes his exemption from the disfavor met by other German artists desiring to appear in America since the war, to the fact that he is of Russian nationality and had in fact difficulties with his fellow singers and the police during the war on that score.

Who said truth was stranger than fiction?

"YOU'RE FIRED," said the editor.
"UNLESS YOU can dig up..... A LIVE story today."
SO THE cub reporter,
DISAPPEARED FOR hours.
BUT WHEN he recovered.
FROM HIS trance, he had.
A STORY—here it is.
OUR DEPUTY constable.
WAS WAKENED by the 'phone.
AND A shrill voice cried.
"FOR THE love of Mike,
BEAT IT here quick,
AND NAIL a nut.
WHO'S TALKING wild.
IN THE cigar store."
THE LONG arm of the law.
PUT ON his pants.
SPED TO the scene.
AND AFTER a brief.
BUT TERRIFIC struggle.
MADE THE pinch.
AND WHEN interviewed.
BY OUR star reporter.
GAVE OUT this statement.
"HE'S A loony, all right.
THE ASYLUM says, by Heck,

A statement from official sources today said:

"There is far more hope of rounding up Sunday's murderers than is ordinary in the case of outrages in Ireland. Informers are coming forward despite the terrorism.

Premier Lloyd George and his Cabinet held several conferences on the Irish situation at 10 Downing street. Sir Hamar Greenwood, chief secretary for Ireland, laid before the Premier the details of the murders. Greenwood's first official act on learning of the outrages had been to warn the troops on duty in Dublin against allowing any provocation to inspire reprisals. The sending of additional troops to Ireland is being seriously considered.

The Irish office in London gives out a statement to the effect that the intelligence service in Ireland has recently been strengthened by the addition of some of the best brains in the country and that this fact, together with the hope of seizing incriminating documents in the hands of the military had inspired the Republican extremists to their desperate move. Apparently the assassins reached Dublin Saturday night in motor cars loaded down with rifles, revolvers and ammunition.

The situation growing out of yesterday's massacres was debated at length in the House of Commons today. Sir Hamar Greenwood declared that plans of "paid assassins," discovered recently, included destruction of life and property in England, as well as Ireland.

Joseph Devlin, Nationalist, and Major John Molson, Coalition Unionist, came to blows during the debate. The sitting was temporarily suspended. Peace was made after Major Molson had apologized.

In reply to questions, Lloyd George said the Government had resolved to go to any length to suppress murder and conspiracy in Ireland. It was realized, he added, that to put down such carefully organized, highly subsidized plots would take time, but the Government was convinced that, despite the recent happenings, the Irish authorities were succeeding in breaking up the "gangs of assassins."

New York, Nov. 23.—Eamonn de Valera, "president of the Irish Republic," in a statement here yesterday declared that when the British officer who commanded the troops that fired yesterday into a Dublin football crowd "is made to feel" by Irish republicans that he "may not commit these crimes with impunity" his death will "be classed by the British-controlled press as 'another murder by the Sinn Feiners.'"

"Ireland is doing Britain no wrong, for Ireland is only claiming that which is hers by right," Mr. De Valera said.

"The conduct of the British troops in swooping down and firing their machine guns on an unarmed people is simply a repetition of the Amritsar massacre in India and whatever British officer was in charge in Dublin will be commended for it and rewarded as Dyer was. And, later, when that officer is made to feel by Irish Republicans that although he may so far at his own Government is concerned, he may not do it with impunity so far as Irishmen can secure it, his death will be classed by the British-controlled press as 'another murder by the Sinn Feiners.'"
